

RUSH

Written by Simon Dekker

Open on extreme close up of young guy's eyes opening after being kissed.
Cut to extreme close up young woman's eyes – pull back to see her smiling as she turns and begins to run.
Cut to wider shot of guy as he runs after girl.
Cut to wide shot of classic apartment building – we see them running by in full-length coats.
Cut to entrance of building. They stop. They kiss passionately as he swings open the wrought iron gate. He fumbles and drops his keys.
Cut to low angle looking up at the couple as he picks up his keys.
Cut to key being inserted into lock.
Cut to building lobby – they kiss as they ascend the marble stairwell.
Cut to overhead as they reach apartment doorway.
Cut to interior apartment, they crash in, their ardor at fever pitch. They pull at each other's clothes, heading for the bedroom. The door slams shut.

Announcer: "Some things take time..."

The door opens after about two seconds. The young woman, looking satisfied, buttons up as she leaves.

Cut to slow motion shot of beer being poured from bottle to frosted mug.

Announcer: "...like making Big Rock beer. You don't rush quality"

Guy looks out from bedroom, confused.

Add super: Taking our time since 1984.

Add super: Big Rock Traditional